Benjamin Lin
Web Developer

Full-stack Web Developer leveraging a background in Classical Music Composition to craft elegant, modular, and intuitively coded software. Recently completed certification at the Georgia Institute of Technology Fullstack Coding Bootcamp with newly developed skills in all stages of application development. Building on experience in quickly learning and adopting concepts, techniques, and technologies, as well as the attention to detail and design necessary to look at encoded information, predict how it will manifest, and adjust accordingly after testing. Seasoned in the demands of classical ensemble performance, and can fit easily into any team dynamic as an enthusiastic collaborator able to adapt to protean project requirements and tight deadlines.
